Class 1:

Learning Objective: Identify basic information about different countries by using online resources.

How are they going to research?

The students are going to work in the computer lab so they have plenty of time to research.

Presentation

Introduce the project + an example of the final product. Model how and where to search for information.

Practice

Arrange groups and assigned a country for each one. Ask them to search the capital's name and interesting facts about the capital city.

Production

Students present their information to another group and receive peer feedback. They save their research for later.

Class 2:

Learning Objective: Describe basic information of a typical food from an assigned country.

Presentation

Introduce vocabulary and structures related to food. Model an example and teach how to search the information.

Practice

Students search basic information about a typical dish (name, ingredients). Choose a picture where the dish is properly shown.

Production

Students create a short oral description of their dish with sentence starters and present their information to another group.

Class 3:

Learning Objective: Describe a traditional dance from an assigned country by using online resources.

Presentation

Introduce vocabulary and structures related to describe dances. Model an example of how to describe a dance while watching one video.

Practice

Students search information about a traditional dance (name, clothing, music, characteristics). Choose a picture where the dance is well represented.

Production

Students create a short oral description of their dance with sentence starters and present their information to another group.

Class 4:

Learning Objective: Organize research information into a research worksheet.

Presentation

Give them a research worksheet and model how to organize their information in each section.

Practice

Students start organizing their information in the worksheet. Students can search their information again to verify it.

Production

Each group presents the first version of their cultural fair presentation. The teacher reviews their information and give feedback.

Class 5:

Learning Objective: Design a poster with the information organized in the research worksheet.

Presentation

Show the students a poster, identify its sections, and how to transform the information from the worksheet to a poster.

Practice

Students create a rough version of the poster. The teacher monitors and gives feedback. The teacher gives them the pictures choosen by them.

Production

Students create their final poster using the information from the research worksheet.

Class 6:

Learning Objective: Present research information during a cultural fair.

Presentation

The teacher reviews the expectations and explain how its going to work. Students prepare their stands.

Practice

Students would do a short final rehearsal. They are given a checklist to check if they have everything needed.

Production

Divide the class in two. One group presents while the other listens. After some minutes, the teacher assesses and the roles are switched.
